

Sen. Enzi to tour Upton biofuels plant

By Gazette News Services

CHEYENNE - U.S. Sen. Mike Enzi is using the week off from work in Washington to visit northeast Wyoming.

The Wyoming Republican is scheduled to tour the industrial business park at Upton on Monday. It features the KL Energy biofuels plant, which is testing ways to turn wood from the nearby Black Hills National Forest into ethanol.

Enzi also is scheduled to visit Newcastle on Monday to visit with senior citizens and tour the Weston County Health Services center.

On Tuesday, Enzi will be in Buffalo to address the Buffalo Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and tour the Mountain Meadow Wool Mill. He also is scheduled to visit the Veterans Home at Buffalo.