(Washington, D.C. – March 10, 2008) Has your community organization cleaned up a stream? Have you enjoyed a day in the woods? Has a wild animal ever sparked your imagination?

If you've caught anything like those moments in a photo, share it with us! We want to see how you would show EPA's mission to protect human health and the environment. Send us your best photos in three categories:

- Enjoying the environment
- Protecting the environment
- Nature and wildlife

To encourage participation and provide maximum public access, the contest will be hosted on the photo sharing site Flickr.com. People around the world are encouraged to enter.

The contest will run as follows:

- March 24: entries due
- April 1: Finalists announced, public voting for winners begins
- April 15: voting ends
- April 22 (Earth Day): winners announced

Finalist and winning photos will be featured on EPA's Web site
